—A party of Pennsylvania capitalists, numbering about twenty, are on a prospecting tour through the State of Virginia. They are said to represent some forty millions of capital.

—Discussing the Presidential question, the St. Louis Democrat says: "There is a statesman who has been the military superior of all our Generals, and who, during the war, has been not less deserving of honor than of the bravest hero who ever slept on a hard fought battle-field. There is one such man, and but one: the Secretary of War, Edwin M. Stanton."

—Judge Kelly, on Saturday evening last at Montgomery, Ala., addressed a large crowd, composed about equally of whites and blacks. His remarks were confined almost exclusively to a contrast between the two sections in favor of the North, from which he inferred that the institution of slavery and the prejudices of the Southern whites had been the incubus upon the Southern section. He was listened to attentively and frequently cheered.

—The Blakely Ordnance Company in England is bankrupt, and the question has arisen in the Courts as to the ownership of some guns, valued at £25,000. A contract to furnish them to the Confederate States was made by Blakely before the assignment of his interest to the Company. They are claimed by both Blakely and the United States. An order was made by Court that the claim be ascertained by an interpleader suit, some officer of the United States Government being made a party thereto.

—Excitement prevails in Philadelphia over the discovery that the new license law contains a section authorizing the police to close all drinking places on Sunday. The provision is claimed to be a trick of the temperance men.

—Thomas J. Henry, of California, has been appointed by the President as Commissioner to examine and report upon the road or roads authorized to be constructed by the Central Pacific or any other company in California, under the act of July 2d, 1864.

—High mass was celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, on Sunday, the first since its reconstruction. Archbishop McCloskey delivered the address.

—It has transpired (according to a special to the New York Times) in the impeachment investigation that pardons were sent South by express marked "three hundred dollars, C. O. D.," but it does not appear that the President was directly implicated.

—The printers of Memphis are making extensive preparations for the meeting of the National Typographical Union on the 1st of June. Rooms have been engaged for the delegates at the Overton House.

—The Mayor of Philadelphia has issued orders for the enforcement of the Liquor Law passed by the Legislature. It is very similar to the New York Excise Law.

FROM CINCINNATI.

Presbyterian General Assembly—Washington City Next Place of Meeting—Contested Seats—Question of Selling Milk on Sunday—Delegation From the Free Scotch Church—Church Extension Report—Cincinnati Young Men's Mercantile Library Association, &c.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 19, 1867.

The Assembly with great unanimity fixed upon Washington City, D. C., as the place of meeting next year. This is well. That city still has need of a little more of the wholesome leaven of radicalism.

The case of the contested seats of Commissioners, from certain Presbyteries in Kentucky, is now in the hands of a Special Committee of ten. When the report is made, a warm discussion is anticipated, as it will bring up again the "vexed question" of the old "Peculiar Institution." When will the Church and the State get beyond the hateful influences of that "sum of all villanies?" which now, thank God, no longer disgraces and curses the nation. The cancer has been taken out, but some of the festering roots still remain. It may require years to remove them all, but the last one is destined to come at length.

The question of selling milk on the Sabbath in our large cities was before the Assembly to-day. It came up in this wise: A Committee was appointed by the last Assembly to make a report to the present one on the subject. The Committee was not prepared to report. A motion was made to re-commit the subject for another year.

After considerable discussion, showing quite a variety of opinions on the merits of the question, the motion was lost, and thus the whole subject was finally and wisely dismissed.

The delegation from the Free Scotch Church appeared in the Assembly, and, on motion, were invited to take seats on the platform. It consists of Rev. Patrick Fairbairn, D.D., Principal of New College, Glasgow; and Rev. J. Wells, pastor of the Mission Church of the same city. We shall have occasion to speak of them hereafter.

The Committee on Church Extension, through their Chairman, Rev. Dr. Brownson, made a report. The report shows an encouraging degree of success. During the twelve years of its existence the Board has assisted seven hundred and twenty-eight churches to obtain church properties free from debt, worth over two millions of dollars, and that will accommodate at least 150,000 worshipers.

But a small proportion of the churches make regular contributions to this cause. The report deplores this fact, and urges upon all the duty of giving. This urging ought not to go unheeded. So good a cause appeals directly and eloquently to every christian heart. The far-west and the South will for years to come be fruitful fields for church extension—they must be cultivated.

Invitations were received and thankfully accepted by the Assembly from the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association, and the Young Men's Christian Association to visit and enjoy the advantages of their respective rooms. These associations are both institutions of much importance, and are exerting a very salutary influence in this city. We visited the library rooms to-day. They are in an eligible part of the city, commodious and in excellent order. The catalogue of books is large, and the periodicals and papers constitute a formidable list. We found the Pittsburgh GAZETTE in a prominent place. By the way, why is it that Dailies of your city are not on sale here. We have searched in vain at the news depots for them. Cincinnati dailies are sold in your city. It is a poor rule that does not work both ways.

We might say many good things of the Young Men's Christian Association. It has a room for public worship—rooms for reading, for prayer meeting, for bible classes, &c.

It has prepared and hung up in public places in the city, a "Church Directory." This is well done. It is just what many strangers on entering a city want to see: they are thus saved the trouble of making inquiry for the church they desire to attend.

Nearly all the Evangelical Churches of this city and of Covington, are to have their pulpits filled on to-morrow by members of the General Assembly. We wish we could hear a score at least of those who are announced to preach. Perhaps, however, two of the sermons may prove quite enough for us to digest.

We shall see, and perhaps may report at a convenient time.
VISITOR.

FROM ERIE.

Growth of the City—Its Importance as a Business Centre—As a Place of Fashionable Resort.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ERIE, PA., May 20, 1867.

DEAR GAZETTE:—Leaving our goodly city at 6 A. M. on Friday, we came in a very comfortable run of seven hours to this Gem of the Lakes, and are snugly bestowed in the house of our friend, and have met with greetings of welcome by the older denizens, as their fellow-citizen of forty years ago, come back to wonder at and admire the change that time has wrought on all around, effacing many of the local features once familiar, and raising up new ones to be again replaced by others in the onward and upward progress of this city.

Erie has enjoyed less fostering legislation than was due to her geographical position. If the policy adopted by the Legislature in 1825, of a system of canals connecting the waters of the Delaware, at Philadelphia, with those of the Ohio, at Pittsburgh, and of the Lake at Erie, had at once been carried out, and then, if, when the great error of the canal was discovered, and railroads made to supercede it, if the same points, to-wit: Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Erie, had been insisted upon and and adhered to until lines of railway traversed all the counties between, what an admirable and secure foundation would this have proved on which to erect the whole future prosperity of the Commonwealth. From such base lines branches might extend and ramify until every part of the State would be penetrated by the Locomotive on its errand of development and progress.

It is noteworthy that the first great project of uniting Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Erie—although abandoned as a State enterprise, and delayed and baffled for many years, was so manifestly a commercial necessity, that by various devices and expedients, it is at last accomplished, and Erie, by these and other connections, is made an important center and mart; a new life and vigor is imparted; her population rapidly grows; the mile square by which she once estimated her future is long since built up; a second and third mile square, each with a central park of ten acres, like the first are being built up. The population, now nearly 20,000, will doubtless be swollen to over 100,000, before the close of this century. The plan of the city is rectangular. The central park, reserved in each mile square, is a pleasant feature in the plan. A street, 100 feet wide bisects each, running east and west, another north and south. All the other streets are 60 feet wide. What a pity Pittsburgh has not such streets. Erie is already a beautiful young city, and contains many elegant residences—extensive blocks of stores—numerous churches, among which are the Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist and Catholic, very firm structures. There are also several extensive manufacturing establishments—several hotels, among which, the Reed House, to be opened next month, will be one of the finest in the State. We see no reason why Erie should not become a favorite place of residence for families of wealthy gentlemen, retiring from or engaging in business, or why it should not be the summer or winter resort of fashion. If the current would but set thitherward the votaries of pleasure and pure air, of summer breezes or winter sleighing, would find that nature has done everything for them here, except what art would quickly supply, to render this place quite as charming as any of the popular watering resorts. The beautiful bay, covering an area of five or six square miles, sheltered from all winds by the Presqueisle, (almost and island,) beyond which is the whole expanse of Lake Erie, with the cities of Buffalo, Dunkirk, Cleveland, Detroit, &c., accessible by easy excursions with safety; the waters abounding with fish, and the shores with game; the roads along the shore or through the interior affording drives to rustic dells, and groves and shady nooks, amid pastoral flocks, green pastures and growing crops for coming harvests.

We advise your readers to make a trip to Erie, and see for themselves how charming a resort lies but seven hours ride away from them.

Three Per Cent. Certificates—Census of 1870—Reconstruction—Freedmen in North Carolina.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 20, 1867.

THREE PER CENT. CERTIFICATES.

The Printing Bureau has completed the three per cent. certificates, to take the place of the compound interest notes.

CENSUS OF 1870.

Preparations are making to take the census 1870 through the Internal Revenue Department. The Superintendent of the bureau took the census of the country during six weeks in November and December, without other expense than stationery. The total was 34,505,882. In most of the Southern States there was a decrease of population, in the Eastern States a small increase, and in the Western States a large increase.

ATTORNEY GENERAL AND RECONSTRUCTION.

It has generally been supposed the Attorney General's interpretation of the reconstruction acts would all be embodied in a single opinion, shortly to be promulgated; but it is said the practical operation of the measures, by developing new questions for solution almost every day, keep that officer's hands full of the subject from time to time, though the first advisory communication will doubtless embrace all the main principles. The Attorney General leaves to-morrow for New York, where he will remain only a short time. The object of his visit is to consult an occulist with regard to a disease of the eyes.

FREEDMEN'S BUREAU REPORTS.

The Freedmen's Bureau Commissioner for North Carolina reports a satisfactory condition of affairs. There is yet much destitution, but the prospect is encouraging of a material decrease. The crops promise a large yield. As a rule, contracts are strictly observed, and complaints of wrong and injuries are seldom heard. The educational work continues with unabated ardor.

Order to Prevent Further Mob Violence—City Police Administration Suspended.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MOBILE, May 20.—The following order was issued yesterday evening:

Mobile, May 19.—General Swayne, commanding the district of Alabama, directs the issue of the following order to prevent further violence growing out of the disturbed condition of affairs:

The undersigned has assumed the maintenance of public order in the city of Mobile. City police administration is suspended. Special policemen, or members of the old force, will be employed when necessary. Breaches of city ordinances will be tried as heretofore. Violations of the public peace and of the existing order will be dealt with by the military. Out of door congregations after nightfall are prohibited. When a public demonstration is intended, notice must be filed in season to permit the presence of such police force as may be essential. Individuals will be held to a strict responsibility for the publication of articles commending or inciting riot or violence, for using incendiary language, and for the occurrence of disorder in places of public entertainment.

Imperialists in the City of Mexico Preparing to Capitulate—The Puebla Executions—Bombardment of Vera Cruz.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Advices from the city of Mexico state that on April 28th Diaz had seventy-nine canons playing on the Paralville gate of the Capitol, and that of San Cosmos was being attacked. Marquese's only points of defence were the gates. He had 45,000 men. The commanding officers were preparing to capitulate.

The executions at Puebla were ordered by Gen. Diego Alvarez at the moment he was assaulting a fortification, and Gen. Dias, when he heard of it, ordered it stopped and to allow the prisoners to choose a place of refuge.

A hot bombardment of Vera Cruz took place May 5th.

The Island of Carmen had proclaimed for the republic.

A Robber's Freak—Queer and Mysterious.

One of the most singular, and, at the same time, strangest robberies which has ever come to our notice, happened last night at 128 Franklin, near Massachusetts street. It seems that the gentleman living at that place had quite a sum of gold and greenbacks stowed under his mattress, and which he considered as secure as if it had been deposited in a burglar and fire-proof vault. What was his astonishment on waking this morning to find his gold scattered about the floor. He immediately awoke his wife and asked her why she left the money on the floor. She did not at first understand him and complained of feeling unwell, and immediately went to sleep again, proving conclusively that she was still under the influence of chloroform which had been administered. Upon looking around more thoroughly, the gentleman found the window broken up, and upon picking up the gold, he found the following note, which we publish verbatim:

"Id ta ke more i f i didn no you."

Upon counting the money he discovered with surprise, that the "cute" robber had only taken two twenty-dollar gold pieces and $30 in greenbacks. This is the most singular and unaccountable part of the robbery, together with the note picked up, for why a robber should run the risk of breaking into a house and only to take off a small amount, when he could have taken a considerable pile, is incomprehensible. The gentleman who was robbed desired us to state, and he smiled when he said it, that if the robber was so considerate, and who, it seems must know him, will call at his place of business, he will say nothing of the robbery, and will treat him to a bottle of champagne and make him a present of the money in the bargain.

We cannot imagine what plausible reason can be assigned to this strange and most unaccountable freak of the robber. That he knew the gentleman whom he robbed, is proved by the note, and that he had some misgivings and feeling of compassion about him is shown by the small amount he took. We hope some one will unravel the mystery, for we cannot. The lady has not yet recovered from the chloroform, and is still unwell, but the gentleman suffers no inconvenience from it.—Mobile Times.

A Lively Ball in Oregon.

At a recent ball in Roseburg, Oregon, all went on in peace and quietness until Sol. Colver, John Fitzbaugh, Bob Forbes, John Hannan and Abe Crow came there, it is said, to break up the ball. When they entered the ball room they had a few words, when George Bennet struck Sol. Colver in the face with a revolver. Beranger then stepped up to them for the purpose, it is said, of stopping the fuss, when John Fitzhugh drew a Deringer and shot him through the head, after which he never spoke.

Ash Clayton, who was fiddling at the time, then drew a knife and stabbed Sol. Colver in the small of the back under the right shoulder. Abe Crow then rushed in and shot Clayton through the thigh, and another ball struck him on the forehead, the ball entering the skull, but glancing over it under the skin, and passing out at the back of the head. Crow then drew his knife and struck Clayton across the head, inflicting a terrible wound. Fitzhugh, after shooting Beranger, rushed on Tom Thompson, when the latter shot him twice. Hannon then struck Thompson, when the latter shot him in the stomach, the ball passing through him. Bob Forbes then rushed into the fight, when Thompson shot him down also, the ball entering the right side, ranging the back, striking his backbone, and breaking his back, then glanced to the right, going down the hip. After the shooting was all over, Bob Woodruff went into the melee, when some man struck him over the head with a revolver, and laid him out for dead. Sy Smith also came in flourishing a revolver, when Fitzhugh, who was thought to be dead, or at least dying, raised himself, and with his bowie knife stabbed Smith, inflicting a serious wound.

Out of the eleven men who engaged in the fight, nine lay dead or mortally wounded on the ball room floor.

—The ex-Confederate Major General Ewell is quietly cultivating a farm of a couple of thousand acres at Spring Hill, Tenn. He very sensibly devotes his attention chiefly to stock raising and to the cultivation of corn, and plants little or no cotton. He is noted as being the most successful employer in that section, having no trouble whatever with the freedmen, to whom he is kind and liberal, supporting them in the maintenance of their newly acquired social and political rights. He has the best crop of growing wheat in that part of the country.

—It is reported that a system of slavery exists on the Society Islands, under the auspices of the French government, unequalled in barbarity by any former plantation system down South. The victims are Chinese coolies and natives of the Pacific Islands.

—At a fete given lately by the Countess ——, a new kind of amusement was introduced, in the shape of popular airs being played by a score of ladies and gentlemen on penny trumpets, whistles and drums, with accompaniment of words supposed to be verses, much in the style of nonsense.

—"One-half of the world does not know how the other half lives," and probably not one person in ten thousand had ever heard of the trade followed by a man on whose body an inquest was held lately in Marylebone Workhouse. The deceased had, for the last seventeen years, followed the profession of frog-catcher for the serpents in the Zoological Gardens.

—The Court Journal notes as one of the saddest "signs of the times" the undoubted spread of Mormonism in many parts of England and Wales. The son of Brigham Young himself is now in London on a proselyting expedition, and has been holding forth to large audiences in the tabernacle of the faithful. It is indeed startling to hear that many hundreds of women leave England every year for the Salt Lake city, but it is unfortunately true beyond all doubt.

—A new English book gives some insight into the customs of mechanics: "When an apprentice enters a shop he will, in all probability, be taught to 'keep nix' before he is told the names of the tools. Keeping nix consists in keeping a bright lookout for the approach of managers or foremen, so as to be able to give prompt and timely notice to men who may be skulking, or having a sly read or smoke, or who are engaged on 'corporation work'—that is, work of their own."

—Alexander Dumas, photographed on the same card with Adah Isaacs Menken Heenan, is exhibited in the Paris shop windows. There are several different poses of this strange couple, Alexander sitting with the Menken on his knee; he is in his shirt-sleeves, and Adah with her arm about his neck, and other postures. It is understood that photographs of this sort are produced by attaching the heads of celebrities to the bodies of such subjects as are willing to have them depicted.

—Preparations are now being actively made for the marriage of Prince Amadeus. The ladies of Brussels intend to present to the Princess a beautiful diadem of exquisite workmanship. Prince de Cisterna, as will be remembered, was, in 1821, obliged to quit Turin, in consequence of being implicated in the trial of Carbonari; he then took refuge in Belgium, where he gained the sympathy and esteem of every one. The King has sent to the young lady a necklace of pearls and diamonds of the value of more than one hundred thousand francs. On the wedding day six young girls are to be married to six workmen of Turin, and the Prince will give in each case a dowry of a thousand francs.

Physical Exercise

The Westminster Gazette declaims against too much physical exercise, and expresses the opinion that physical development is very liable to be carried too far. It says:

Of course it is a very grand thing to be able to maintain one's rights against half a dozen coal-heavers, or to figure as the champion of injured respectability against insolent black-guardism, as Sir Robert Clifton did a little time back in the public streets. But these are exceptional cases, and few can be pointed out who are distinguished both as pugilists and scholars. But the greatest and most dangerous abuse, and one that ought most sedulously to be discouraged among young men, is what is technically known as "training." Who cannot appreciate the indignant periods of the ancients when they decry the insane discipline of over-enthusiastic athletes? Then as now they studied to bring their bodies to a premature perfection, at the expense of both mind and body for the remainder of their lives. Those who have gone through the severest training become in the end dull, listless, and stupid, subject to numerous diseases, and in many instances, the ultimate victims of gluttony and drunkenness. Their unnatural vigor seldom lasts more than five years. It was especially remarked by the Greeks that no one who in boyhood won the prize at the Olympic games ever distinguished himself afterward. The three years immediately preceding seventeen are years of great mental development, and Nature cannot at the same time endure any severe taxing of the physical constitution. Prudence, therefore, especially at this critical period of life, must ever go hand-in-hand with vigor, for the evils of excess outweigh by far the evils of deficiency. But, as long as due bounds are preserved, athletic sports may ever be hailed as the best friends of both of mind and body. The Duke of Wellington is reported to have said, when he was looking on a cricket match, that as long as these were the sports of Englishmen, they need never fear invasion. To this we think we may add a more powerful encouragement, for we sincerely believe that, as long as athletic sports hold their proper place in our educational establishments, we need never fear the invasion of degeneracy nor the tyranny of ignorance.

Our Gold and Silver Mines.

There seems to be no end to the development of the mineral wealth of the Rocky Mountain ranges. Our exchanges from Montana, Colorado, Nevada and California are filled with accounts of new discoveries of gold and silver lodes, a large proportion of which will probably never pay for working, but enough remain to furnish steady accessions to our wealth in the precious metals.

In Eastern Nevada a new lode has been turning out very richly, and its yield for the present year is estimated at $200,000. Another Nevada district is also promising finely. It has a mild climate, and a far better supply of wood and water than the Washoe districts. The ores assay $50 to $2,500 a ton, while an average yield is confidently expected of from $80 to $100 a ton.

The older Nevada mines are now more thoroughly worked than ever before. Deeper shafts are sinking, and there is more system in the working of the lodes. The surface ores have become pretty well exhausted, and for a time there may be a diminution in the net products of the mines, but the deep mining will eventually pay as well as that which yielded returns more easily. All the mining interests have received a vast impetus from the anticipated results of the completion of the great railway across the continent.

—In later years, if stage history be true, Catalini manifested, with all her personal vanity, a practice of piety which was not unlike that of Madame Gonthier. We are told that she never entered a theatre without earnest prayer that she might be successful, and that behind the scenes or at the Opera House in the Haymarket, she might be seen, missal in hand, repeating a prayer, and after making the sign of the cross and consigning the book to her attendant, she would pass on to the stage prepared for triumph. Madame Catalani, however, had peculiar notions touching her relations with Heaven. When she was at Hamburg, in 1819, she was treated severely by one of the critics, and she took the censure for something little less than sacrilege. "When God," said Madame, "has given to a mortal such extraordinary talent as I possess, people ought to applaud and honor it as a miracle. It is profane to depreciate the gifts of Heaven!"

—The Memphis Avalanche is not delighted with the prospect of the visit of Judge Kelley, Senators Nye, Pomeroy and others. It wants to know if Southern pride can lower itself enough to listen to such foul brains and fouler tongues and hearts? Surely, surely, "we" have not reached this depth of degradation. In its cheerful way it also alludes to them as "political skunks," a dirty crew whose ancestors, like their descendants, were engaged in the dirtiest and most damnable part of a nefarious traffic. And it inquires with its usual amiability, why spoon-thief Butler, the old cock-eyed Beast, was not sent with them, etc., and so on for nearly a column of adjectives, epithets, and frothy abuse. The poem, "Oh! I am a good old Rebel," etc., had its origin in Memphis.

A Bold Robbery.—On Friday night last the store of F. D. Caldwell, of Washington, Pa., was entered and robbed of $1,000 worth of goods. Upon search being made, the stolen property was discovered at the house of a man named G. H. Ellsworth. Ellsworth was arrested the next day, and on Sunday two other men, one named Steep and the other John Sweeney, both implicated in the robbery, were also arrested. They were all committed for a hearing.

—An ingenious individual at Lee, Mass., lately suggested, as a means of painting one of the tall church spires there, "that the paint be mixed in one of the tanks, and the fire engines be got out to squirt it up."

Railroad Abuses and Remedies Therefor.

Senator Coleman, of Lebanon, during last Winter, got the Senate of this State to pass resolutions instructing the General Judiciary Committee during the recess to inquire into a number of alleged abuses on part of railroad companies, and how far the Legislature, if satisfied these abuses existed, could remedy the same. The Judiciary Committee was selected because of the legal questions involved, and also because Senator Coleman believed a fuller and fairer investigation could be had by that Committee than one specially gotten up for the occasion. The Committee met at Harrisburg last Monday. Senator Bigham, of Allegheny, raised the preliminary question, for the information of a dozen complainants then before the Committee, and all other persons desiring to present complaints in regard to the extent and thoroughness of the proposed investigation. He avowed his own unwillingness to go into the matter at all unless the Committee would undertake to do it fully and thoroughly. The Committee came to the understanding that it would hold sessions at Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and some point in the anthracite coal district, and would give all persons who desired to come before it a full opportunity to make their complaints under oath, and also to allow all railroad officials to explain under oath these complaints against them.

The Committee has secured the services of one of the Senate short-hand reporters to take down the testimony rapidly, and we have no doubt a full opportunity will be given to investigate this whole subject, and then that the committee will endeavor to devise the best remedies it can for such evils as are found to exist. The committee was in session at Harrisburg as long as witnesses appeared before it. It will meet at Philadelphia, June 3d, to continue there one week, and will shortly meet at Pittsburgh.

First. Some half dozen of witnesses on the route of the Cumberland Valley Railroad complain of the extortionate charges made by that road upon all freight carried, amounting, as they allege, to seven or eight cents per ton per mile. Also that the agents of the company buy and sell country produce, merchandise, coal, lumber, &c., to the injury of the licensed dealers and merchants. Proceedings have already been commenced in the court at Carlisle, asking an injunction to restrain the Railroad Company in these respects.

Second. Some dozen of witnesses along the middle division of the Pennsylvania Railroad complain that the local trade is subjected to two or three times the rate of charges imposed upon the through trade upon short distances, say under twenty miles. These complaints appear to be sustained by owners of rolling mills, furnaces, grist mills, &c., even against shippers, whose annual freights amount to ten, twenty and thirty thousand dollars per annum. These complainants allege that these local discriminations prevent the erection of manufacturing establishments along the route of that road and its branches, and consequently the developement of the interior of the State. Several witnesses testify to projects for the erection of such establishments in the interior, that had been fully determined upon, and have been abandoned because of this local discrimination.

We may here add that the official tariff of freights upon that road given in evidence for four years last past, by its own agents, showed that the maximum rates allowed by the act of March 7, 1861, upon through freights from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, and vice versa, are reached on eastern bound freight about 20 miles from Pittsburgh, and on western bound freight about 200 miles from Philadelphia, consequently all through freight is carried the last 160 miles without any charge as compared with local freight, and that shipped along the valley of the Juniata in a central position pays full freight to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia each, or equivalent to double the rates charged upon through trade.

Third. The committee had numerous complaints against the Pennsylvania Railroad that her printed and official toll sheets only regulate her charges on small transactions, and that the heavy shippers and fast freight lines have their business done at about half the published rates. Some of the witnesses believe that these special rates of freight are given to certain favorites on better terms than to other equally large shippers. Other witnesses, however, think that they are granted to all large shippers who apply for them at headquarters. These special rates do not appear to be based on any settled principle, except the discretion of the General Freight Agent. One or two witnesses also testified to a system of drawbacks granted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, by which, as they allege, certain favorite shippers first paid the usual special rates, but at the end of each month or quarter went into the office of the Company and received back a certain per centage of what had been paid. These subjects will all be much more fully ventilated at the subsequent meetings of the committee, our object being to direct the attention of the public to the points already suggested and invite a full examination from both sides by all parties having facts in their possession. So far, much more feeling has been exhibited from Philadelphia and the Eastern portion of the State, where we have been led to believe that no dissatisfaction prevailed, than from the Western portion of the State, where most feeling has been heretofore supposed to exist.

The Judiciary Committee of the Senate in charge of this subject with their Post-office address, are Messrs. Shoemaker, of Wilkesbarre; Bigham, of Pittsburgh; McConnaughy, of Gettysburg; Wallace, of Clearfield, and Schall of Allentown. Any communications addressed to either of them will undoubtedly be laid before the Committee at its next session.

Destructive Fire in Allegheny—The Alpine Oil Works Destroyed.

Yesterday afternoon, about three o'clock, a fire broke out in the Alpine Oil Works, of Lafferty & Co., in Duquesne Borough, which totally destroyed the buildings of the Company and two dwelling houses adjoining. The works of the Company are situated on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, and extended back towards Main street. They had been in operation for considerable time, and had quite a large amount of oil on hand stored in barrels and tanks. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed from the locality in which it was first noticed, that some oil took fire at the boilers and thence communicated to the rest of the works. When we arrived on the ground the works had been already destroyed, and the efforts of the firemen were being directed to saving as much of the oil as they possibly could. In the rear of the works, towards Main street, there is a large hollow, or rather a pond, which was full of burning oil when we visited the scene. By shoveling earth on the barrels in this region, quite a number of them were saved. The large tank of the Company, containing about eight hundred barrels, was not destroyed, but five minor tanks, with two or three hundred barrels refined oil in each, were totally destroyed. There were besides twenty-five or thirty barrels of tar or residuum in this lot, which were also destroyed, together with about one thousand empty barrels. The total loss of the refinery and still house, together with the oil, will amount to about twenty-five thousand dollars, on which the Company have an insurance of twelve thousand, but in what companies we could not find out.

There was also a double frame dwelling house, on the line of the railroad and adjoining the works, destroyed. It was owned by Mr. Feitzhemier, and occupied by the brothers Feitzhemier, August Rahl and Mike Hirwell. The most of the furniture in this house was destroyed, although a small part was saved before the fire had made much progress. We understand that the Messrs. Feitzhemiers have an insurance on their property in the Pennsylvania Insurance Company, but to what amount, we are unable to say. When we left the scene in the evening, the fire was still raging, but not much further damage would be done to property in the neighborhood. The engines of the two cities were promptly on the ground, and did good service in checking the progress of the flames. We noticed one company, we think the Hope, of Allegheny, experiencing considerable trouble from the repeated bursting of their hose. It is essential that our effective fire department be well supplied with good hose, and the authorities should see that they are so. Without it they cannot do much good at a fire, be they ever so active and willing.

Best Machine in the United States.

Improved Weed Lock Stitch Sewing Machine. It makes a stitch alike on both sides; it possesses a tension of superior merit, by which the operator is enabled to sew from the thinnest to the thickest substances, and over seams, and over irregular or uneven surfaces, without readjusting it, and will pass over seams without breaking the needle or skipping stitches, or breaking the thread, at full speed; it will do all kinds of family sewing and tailoring on the same machine. Its wearing parts are constructed of steel, and it is the cheapest machine by twenty per cent. in use, and will sew faster. If not superior to any machine in the market, he can return it and have his money. Warranted for four years. Agents wanted. E. H. Long, Agent, 112 Grant street.

For Churches.

Every congregation which can afford even a very moderate expense, say one hundred dollars or more, can now secure a good organ. Until recently, such instruments have not been obtained. Large pipe organs are too costly, and occupy too much space for any but a few of the wealthiest congregations worshiping in the largest churches. The melodeon lacks power and volume of tone, and harmoniums and small reed organs generally have been so unsatisfactory in quality of tone as to be undesirable.

In the Cabinet Organ these insufficiencies and defects are remedied. Its great volume and true organ tones, with its admirable capacity for expression, better adapt it to sacred music than any other instrument, excepting only the large pipe organ. Observe, in another column, what Rev. Dr. Prime, the well-known editor of the New York Observer, says of it in this respect. He styles it "a glorious instrument for the temple service," and tells why it is so. Dr. Lowell Mason, than whom no one has had more experience in church music, writes:

"I regard Mason & Hamlin's Cabinet Organs as likely to be of important service to the cause of Church Music, inasmuch as they are really very effective and beautiful accompanying instruments for sacred song; while the low prices at which they are afforded render them very generally available. After a year's experience in the use of one of them in Divine service, I can recommend these instruments with confidence for Sabbath schools, Vestries, and smaller Churches."

As in churches volume or power of tone is so important a requisite, it is better to obtain at least a double reed Cabinet Organ for this use. An instrument with four octaves' compass is sufficient for the accompaniment of church music generally, but one having five octaves is better, enabling the performer to double the bass, as it is termed, and so considerably increase the power. The larger instruments, with three, four, and six sets of reeds, have proportionately greater volume, with very much increased variety.

A single reed Cabinet Organ has considerably more power than any single reed melodeon. A double reed Cabinet Organ has at least three or four times as much power as such a melodeon. The largest sized Cabinet Organ has not less than ten times the volume of tone of the melodeon. This will give some indication of the capacity of the instruments, and affords a guide to purchasers.

Yet it must not be supposed that the largest Cabinet Organ equals or nearly equals, in volume of tone, a large pipe organ, which costs ten or twenty times as much.

It is safe to say that no pipe organ can be built for less than double the cost of a Cabinet Organ, which will equal the latter in power and quality of tone, and variety of effect. The Cabinet Organ has the additional advantage of keeping in tune vastly better, and of less liability to get out of order, in any respect, besides that of occupying much less room.

The Cabinet Organ is, therefore, not offered as a sufficient substitute for large pipe organs, costing three to fifty thousand dollars each, but it is offered as a very great improvement, not only upon melodeons, harmoniums, and all other reed organs, but also upon small pipe organs; as quite sufficient for churches and halls of moderate size, and in all respects better, as well as lower priced, than small, cheap pipe organs. It is within the reach of almost every congregation, because almost every one will be able, by proper exertion, to raise at least enough to buy one of the smaller instruments; it will add greatly to the attraction and usefulness of the music; will draw people to the church, and help to do them good while there; it occupies so little space that a place can easily be found for it; it is durable, and will keep in good tune; it can easily be obtained, for every one is boxed for shipping (without charge), and can easily be sent anywhere by ordinary freight routes.

The Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs can only be had at C. C. Mellor's, No. 81 Wood street, who is the exclusive wholesale agent for Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania. The choicest instruments, personally selected, can always be found at his rooms, and persons are requested to call and examine them, whether intending to purchase or not. Send for a circular. Sent free.

A Pleasant Occasion.

An exceedingly pleasant experience was that of those fortunate persons who were favored with invitations to attend the "house warming" at the St. James Hotel last evening. This elegant new hotel has just been completed in elegant style, on Liberty street, nearly opposite the Union Depot, and is thrown open to the public under the experience and able control of Mr. J. K. Lanahan, a gentleman widely and favorably known in our city as a man who "can keep a hotel." All the various appointments of a first class hotel are comprised in the new house, including commodious rooms, pleasant parlors, a spacious and elegant dining hall, most admirable cuisine and well furnished bar, and under the careful superintendence of Mr. Lanahan, the guests of the establishment may rest assured that they will always enjoy to the fullest extent all the pleasures and conveniences of which hotel life is capable.

The occasion of the formal opening, last evening, was celebrated by a grand banquet, at which a large party of invited guests assisted. The tables of the dining room fairly bowed beneath the tempting weight of excellent edibles and potables with which they were loaded, and with most cheerful zeal did all present do full justice to all that the bountiful host had provided, finishing their then pleasant efforts with copious libations of champagne and other liquid deliciousnesses, poured, not out, but down. After long tarrying at the board, the reluctant guests bade their host adieu, and retired with the most pleasing recollections.

German Turner Association Celebration.

Yesterday morning the members of the German Turner Association, under the supervision of Messrs. B. A. Schnabel, A. B. Bihlman and C. Warner, went on an excursion to enjoy the beauty and the freshness of the season. With them were a number of young boys from eight to fourteen years of age, dressed in light attire, and carrying each a knapsack and a gun, like the boys at military school. Submitted apparently to the same discipline, they marched through the streets headed by a band playing national airs. Happy, and free of those cares which grown people are always laboring under, they had but one thought, that of spending a lovely day under the shade of the trees of Iron City Park. They reached there before noon. Their plays were numberless, and their joy unbounded. Under the vigilant care of the Committee of Arrangement, they were provided with a splendid feast, in which all the members of the German Turner Association partook. Every one had his share, and the excusion terminated only by the arrival of the night, when they left the park and returned to the city late in the evening.

St. Paul's Orphan Asylum Contracts.

The contracts for completing the St. Paul's Orphan Asylum on Tannehill street, Seventh ward, have been awarded to the following parties, as the lowest bidders: Carpenter work, Moore & Chambers; plastering, John Hunter; gas fitting and plumbing, Weldon & Kelly; painting, P. O'Brien. The awards for heating apparatus and lightning rods were postponed for the present. The proposals received were over forty in number, of which fifteen were for plasterers, and the bids accepted average fifty per cent. off book prices. The work will be pushed forward vigorously, and it is expected the building will be ready for occupancy in October next.

Felonious Assaults.

William Doris appeared, yesterday, before Mayor McCarthy, charging Dennis O'Brien with felonious assault. Doris stated that O'Brien went to his house with a knife, threatening to stab him for some pretended injuries received at his hands. O'Brien was arrested and subsequently released on $500 bail.

Wilson Steel and Thomas Hudson were arrested yesterday morning and brought before Mayor McCarthy to answer a charge of felonious assault, lodged against them by William Lee. They were released on $200 bail.

The Circus.—The entry of the colossal circus and menagerie yesterday into the city attracted unusual attention, the procession being very imposing. A large audience was in attendance last night and the universal verdict was that it surpasses any circus that has ever visited the city. Between ten and twelve o'clock this morning a grand exhibition will be given of the trained animals, without the circus performance, for the benefit of ladies, schools and children. To-night the regular performance will be held. We cannot advise our friends in too strong terms to visit this grand entertainment while it remains here.

On the 6th of August, 1860, a flash of lightning struck a house at Swinton, near Manchester, England. The wall of the building was loosened from its foundation a foot below the ground, and raised in a mass to the surface; one end was moved nine and the other four feet from its original place. The wall thus moved was eleven feet high and three feet thick, containing 7,000 bricks, which were estimated to weigh nearly twenty-six tons. The Copper Tubular Lightning Rod, with spiral flanges, manufactured in this city by Lockhart & Co., will save all kinds of building from damage by lightning.

The Black Crook remains on the boards at the New Opera House, and attracts large audiences.

Concert by the Blind.—To-night the first grand concert in this city by the pupils of the Pennsylvania Institute for the blind will be held, at Lafayette Hall, under the direction of Carl Sentz, conductor. The concerts of these poor blind scholars have been given with much success in other cities and towns throughout the State, and we trust a large audience will be in attendance. To-morrow afternoon, at three o'clock, a concert will be given at the same hall, and in the evening likewise.

Another of our Pittsburgh Divines Going to Cincinnati.—Rev. W. A. Snively, pastor of St. Andrews church, on Hand street, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday, preparatory to accepting the charge of Christ Church, Cincinnati. The congregation is one of the largest and wealthiest in Cincinnati, and we sincerely wish Mr. Snively a long and useful life in his new charge. He has been one of our hard working preachers here, and the kind wishes of his late charge go with him.

Surety of the Peace.—Susan Young made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters, charging Mary Catermore and her two daughters, Maria and Susan, with a breach of the peace. The parties live on Arthurs street, in the Seventh ward, and Mrs. Young alleges that defendants made an attack on her with stones and brick bats, and threatened her with bodily injury. The defendants were arrested and held for a hearing.

Assault and Battery.—Polsey Neulan was arrested yesterday, and brought before Alderman H. J. Thomas, to answer a charge of assault and battery, lodged against him by Patrick Harper. The plaintiff stated that Neulan, on Pennsylvania avenue, attacked him without any provocation or warning, and struck him so as to make the blood flow. The plaintiff withdrew the charge upon defendant's consenting to pay a fine and costs.

The Boat Race.—This afternoon between two and three o'clock the sculling championship of American waters is to be decided between Brown, of Portland, Maine, and Hamill, of Pittsburgh. Both these gentlemen have been long training for the contest and are in very good condition. The race will take place on the Monongahela river between the Monongahela bridge and a point on the Ohio river.

City Superintendent.—The school directors of the city, last evening, held a meeting in the Third and Tenth ward school house, for the purpose of deciding whether they should go into the election of a Superintendent for the city public schools. After some discussion the question was decided affirmatively, and the day of convention to elect fixed for the 13th proximo.

Grand Temperance Oration.—Let it not be forgotten by the friends of the good cause, that Professor Gray of London, will deliver his brilliant oration to-night on Temperance, at Masonic Hall. His lecture has been highly spoken of by the English press, and doubtless those who attend to-night will be delighted with the rare intellectual treat afforded.

Obtaining Boarding Under False Pretences.—George Birmingham, proprietor of the Iron City Hotel, in the Ninth ward, appeared before Alderman Taylor yesterday and made information charging Samuel Dewitt with obtaining boarding by false and fraudulent representations. The defendant was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Assault and Battery.—Francis Trainer made information yesterday, before Alderman Taylor, charging Edward Newmeyer with assault and battery. Trainer alleges that Newmeyer struck him, on Saturday evening last, on Penn street, knocking him down and injuring him severely. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing to-day.

No. 28 Cliff Street at Auction To-Night.—Those who desire a valuable investment, or to secure an unusually desirable residence for themselves, will remember the sale to-night of the above handsome premises, on second floor of McIlwaine's auction rooms. See the advertisement under auction head.

A Mischievous Boy.—Charles Rudolphe, janitor of the Eighth ward School House, made information before Alderman H. J. Thomas, against a boy of the name of Andrew Timothy, for throwing stones and breaking two panes in the window of the above school house. A warrant has been issued.

A Huge Rock fell from the precipice overlooking Everson, Preston & Co.'s rolling mill in the Eighth ward, to the track of the Connellsville Railroad, on Monday morning, doing, however, but little damage. It was soon removed by a force of laborers.

John Lenox, the alleged murderer of Robert Morrow, was taken from our county jail, yesterday, to Washington borough, for trial. Sheriff Smith and officer Joseph Busha, of the Mayor's police, had him in custody.

The remains of the man killed and terribly mutilated on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad, a few days since, have been identified as those of Wm. Robb, of West Virginia. He was intoxicated and lying on the track.

Knew No Better.—John M. Knight, who put in for a plea that he knew no better, was fined by Mayor Morrison for riding his horse up the steps of the Allegheny Post-office to enable him to drop in a letter.

The Body of James Smith, mate of the steamer Gallatin, who was drowned in the Monongahela, near the mouth of Brush Run, about six months ago, was found near Brownsville recently.

James E. Murdoch's benefit was largely attended last night. The great actor remains only a few nights longer. To-night he appears in the brilliant comedy of Wine Works Wonders.

The Reports of the water committee of councils, the superintendent and engineer of water works, and the Assessor of water rents will be found on our second page today.

Allegheny Councils will hold a special meeting this evening "to consider the proposed compromise on the horse case."

DIRTY PAGES

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1867.

WE are indebted to Colonel FRANCIS JORDAN, Secretary of the Commonwealth, for the General Laws passed at the last session of the Legislature.

JOHN N. PURVIANCE, Esq., of Butler county, has been appointed Register in Bankruptcy for the Twenty-third District. He is thoroughly competent and reliable, and the selection of him will give full satisfaction to the people among whom he will exercise his function.

LAST YEAR the Commercial followed the lead of President JOHNSON in his efforts to break up the Republican party, and restore the rebels and the rebel States, without delay, and with few or no guarantees for future conduct, to their forfeited rights. Every body saw it was actuated by an unappeasable desire for governmental patronage. It only desisted when it had justly forfeited the confidence of every solid and discriminating Republican both for discretion and integrity, and had exposed itself to general contempt.

Now, it is exceedingly distressed about Mr. GREELEY; admonishes him that "he certainly has made a mistake;" that the people "have had their confidence in his wisdom as a public man, dealing with grave questions, very severely shaken;" and much more to the same effect.

We may further remark that most of the journals that are hammering away at Mr. GREELEY, just now, about the DAVIS bailment, are in the same boat with our neighbor. They are mainly journals that never had any political steadiness themselves, and so are filled with delight that they have caught, as they imagine, Mr. GREELEY tripping, as he has caught them a good many times.

Mr. GREELEY believes that Universal Amnesty and Universal Suffrage afford the best basis for a national settlement. He has proclaimed this belief from the start. On the first signal occasion that offers, he demonstrates his faith by his works. Journals that never maintained their own consistency a month at a time, profess to be surprised and indignant that Mr. GREELEY goes straight on, following his own flag.

We concur neither with President JOHNSON, nor with Judge UNDERWOOD, nor with Mr. GREELEY, in their respective ways of dealing with Mr. DAVIS. The President held Mr. DAVIS a prisoner for upwards of two years without the slightest authority of law. He so held him more to the damage of the nation than of the criminal. Judge UNDERWOOD admitted him to bail on a charge of treason, which is clearly not bailable. Mr. GREELEY emphasized his appeal for his unconditional discharge by needlessly becoming one of his bondsmen. Mr. GREELEY violated no law. He only exercised his undeniable right as a citizen. Both the Judge and the President did that for which they have not a shadow of excuse.

The great majority of the loyal men of the nation have always desired that Mr. DAVIS should be tried and punished. In that feeling we have steadily shared, and do still. He is at last in the hands of the law. The Judges, and not Mr. GREELEY, are responsible for the disposition they make of his case. Hammering at them may yet avail to put the Chief of the Confederacy before a jury of the country.

SOCIAL EVILS OF SOCIETY.

An old writer says, "Cities are sources of evil." Go where you will, in the "city full," and this fact is demonstrated in every possible form. And the evil is on the increase, notwithstanding the progressive steps of morals and religion. People now-a-days are more rapidly educated, under the sharp discipline of the age, in evil as well as well as that which is good, than in former years. Everything tends to foster the social evils of society, outside of the pale of Christianity, in spite of the careful guards employed to ward off its insidious influences. The framework of society is sadly warped by the pernicious elements so glaringly apparent. Doubtless the habits of the people are molded to some extent by the aggregation of vices and follies incident to large bodies of people. A certain proportion of persons in every community live off of others, and prey upon them, and the larger the population is the greater the accumulation of vicious and worthless persons. It would of course be a difficult matter to hinder the tide of iniquity in a community by forced measures. The only proper course is to not only discountenance such "lewd persons of the baser sort," but adopt counter influences, which would tend to neutralize and finally supercede their evil works.

Very few are aware of the magnetic power we receive from our intercourse with society generally. Much of our education is received, at least of a practical sort, by our connection with the outer world. We can scarcely estimate its power upon us for good or evil. The untrammelled range of the eye as it sweeps to and fro, views things that act powerfully upon one's volition, unless under proper moral and mental discipline, and the vast panorama also of living humanity in its various phases of life, impress the mind to a fearful extent with evil results.

Under the same influence the extravagant desire for finery awakens a spirit of rivalry and emulation, which tends to foster the spirit of prodigality of the most deplorable cast, resulting too frequently in the relaxation of the graces of womanhood, modesty, truth, purity, and beauty. A ministerial body in an Eastern city recently discussed at length the corrupting influences of city life. One of the leading ministers took the view that the genteel circles were mainly responsible for the moral degradation in our cities. These so-called genteel circles give law and custom to the community. He argued that the corrupting modes of fashionable costumes, such as tilting hoops, very short underclothes, and other fashions which originate in the foulest dens of Paris, by their exposure of the person, does more injury to morals than all the Sabbath breakers and all the bawdy houses of a city.

Then the side-walks, too, are literally encumbered with persons, who are unworthy of notice and whose presence fills the very atmosphere with impurity by their filthy conversation and sensual looks. The filthy sheets that are placarded on our thoroughfares, with cuts illustrating the low scenes of low life and crime, cannot help having a powerful influence upon the young especially. Many a pure minded person has been morally tainted with the indulgence of the sense of sight in their ordinary every day mingling with the multitudes on the streets. The same great truth is also developed by the sense of hearing. Instead of this organ being wholly the medium of all that is elevating, ennobling, and pleasant in sound, too frequently it is the channel through which, in filling the common duties of life, the contaminating immoralities of the day force themselves, so that, like the eye, we are receiving an education undesired and unsought, which is pernicious to the highest degree.

It may be truly said that it is much easier to point out the evils of society than to suggest suitable remedies for their removal. Some attempt, however, should be made for their extirpation, or we shall finally drift into a condition of things that will eventually destroy all the better elements of society. The pulpit, legislative bodies, educational institutions, family circle, and press, have their part to perform in this great reformation. Many things that are lightly viewed now, must hereafter be brought under the strictest surveillance. Heretofore there has been a disposition to avoid responsibility and place it upon others. It is lamentable to state that the loose ways of society, even of the most criminal character, are regarded simply as "breaches of etiquette," "good breeding," "foibles of youth," and "fast ways," instead of taking the standpoint, that many of these "foolish weaknesses" not only do personal injury, outrage the rules of correct deportment, but that God has expressly declared that those who are guilty of such things "shall not enter heaven." The insult to the Great Ruler is usually overlooked in the peccadilloes of depraved ones.

Plainly as the Gospel may be preached in many of our pulpits, there is, we fear, too much of a disposition to round off the sharp denunciations of the Word of God, and present the truth in a negative form, instead of the decided, unequivocal words the message of God is recorded in. Many who are known to have "weaknesses," of a very serious kind, are allowed to rest easily in conscience in their cushioned pews, who, if they were dealt with by ministers as the prophet of old, could truthfully say to them, "Thou art the man." The time has come when the pulpit should thunder out the anathemas of God against the pernicious evils of society, whether they relate to liquor tippling, gaming for sport or money, foul talking, nudity of person, sensuality in high or low life, in public or in private. There should be no mawkishness upon the part of the faithful minister by primp wording to avoid offence, but rather there should be plainness of speech, so that the old and young of both sexes should clearly understand the message and appropriate their share which rightly belongs to them.

Courts are frequently charged with encouraging a species of immorality by their interpretation of law, when the fault lies more directly at the door of the framers of law. In order to reach this evil men of integrity, pure morals, correct habits, should be entrusted with the functions of legislators. Many of the public evils of society are traceable to this point. There is, however, a disposition too frequently, by legislative bodies, and in their turn the exponents of law, to give a too liberal range of decision. While the great principles of law are founded on the Bible yet the condemnation of that book in many things is overlooked, and hence the laxity of society is greatly augmented. Take the matter of divorce for instance. If the strict rule of the Bible was kept in view, by legislators and Courts, there would be fewer divorces granted. The law authorities fail to remember that the severances of these relations in most instances are the foundation of evils, to the persons involved, and children and relations, which often run through every ramification of their lives, and give color to their destiny in time, and perhaps in eternity.

The conductors of educational institutions while inculcating the local principles of learning and culture, have it in their power to give proper bent to the minds of the youth under their charge in all matters pertaining to society, which can never be so well performed again. There should be a careful training of youth in every relation bearing upon their connection with society, so that every pupil would be forearmed for threading life's difficult pathway. The reason why many have been entrapped into sensuality, is because the moral wrong to themselves and to God, as well as to society, was neglected. Knowledge of the most delicate character may be imparted without engendering improper results. So in the family circle. Parents often reap the bitter fruits of over delicacy towards their children, by leaving them to acquire certain kinds of knowledge by the hap hazard of new associations, and in numberless cases these ignorant ones, are left to the mercy of a merciless world. Better far, to educate the young in every duty of life, taking care to point out the important features, and much of future evil will be avoided.

To the press is committed the great work of educating the masses. Though the pulpit range may be limited, and all the other means suggested are inadequate to the task, yet the press can wield omnipotent power over all classes of society. It can and should expose the social evils of society in language that will do much towards curing the leprosy that fills the land. Vice and immorality of every form should be exposed in unmeasured terms. The press is more than ever the ally of the pulpit and the grand agencies of the religious and benevolent operations of the age.

THREE HUNDRED PERSONS of the Nashville Penitentiary made a daring attempt to gain their liberty one day last week. The rear wall of the prison had been torn out for the purpose of enlargement, and under the leadership of a desperado named Coffee the prisoners endeavored to force past the guard. Coffee was felled to the ground by a blow from a billet of wood, and in his fall the mutiny ended, without a single prisoner escaping.

BUSINESS has been anything but profitable in New York city during the year closed. H. B. CLAFFLIN, one of the merchant princes, returned an income of twenty-five dollars for 1866, against a half million, the year previous. Another large house modestly reported eighty cents as the net profit of a full year's business.

THE preliminary arrangements for the erection of a suspension bridge over the Niagara, at Niagara Falls, have been completed, and operations commenced. The new structure will stretch from the gas works on the American side to the Clifton House on the Canadian side.

THE New Jersey State Convention, which meets on the 4th proximo, promises to be a large and important body. It is called to take action on the subject of manhood suffrage.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

(Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

MESSRS. EDITORS:—With your kind permission I would make some remarks, suggested by your article on Marriage and Divorce, in the paper of Saturday last.

It must be obvious to all observers that a correct public sentiment requires rather to be strengthened than weakened on this most important subject: a matter lying, as it does, at the foundation of society, both religious and civil.

You say "the Protestant churches all declare marriage to be a civil contract." I was not aware that this is true, just in these words. I believe that some Protestants hold that while it is more than a civil contract; that while the State recognizes and treats it as such, there are persons and churches who regard it as having a higher origin, a more sacred sanction.

If it be but a civil contract, then the obligation to perform relative duties can have no higher binding force. I suppose it is, therefore, we see that when one party fails or ceases to perform or fulfill the obligation, the other is declared to be released. This is, certainly, the most plain and simple doctrine of divorce, and is probably not exceeded by the laws of Indiana; and what must greatly facilitate the obtaining of divorces is the fact that civil duties are but few and not always understood, if indeed they are particularly defined at all; and if not particularly defined, parties can readily come to quarrel about them; a quarrel soon lead, to charging the failure to perform. Thus it can be seen that the State and the courts can have their business greatly increased.

To what must this doctrine lead? to what has it already led? Young people hastily enter into this contract, find it not what they expected, and being under no obligation higher than "civil contract," too readily make light of it, and take measures to dissolve it.

I think it will hardly be gainsayed, that were there not a public opinion on this subject of greater force than this doctrine of the "civil contract," the state of society would soon become frightful to all good people. For what it is already, see the number of divorce cases entered in our courts in the last few months.

But can it be true that marriage is only a civil contract? Marriage was instituted when man was made male and female, and involves much more than the mere coming together for procreation. A true marriage involves a Union of minds and hearts. The man and the woman are, separately, each incomplete in mind, and incapable of the fullest uses of their respective faculties; can no more attain to their highest capabilities without a true union of minds, than they could fulfill the highest use of this life, that of propagating and training the race, without a conjunction of bodies.

Hence, it is a great truth that God made them at the beginning, one. And his law is a higher sanction than a civil contract, and must have the perpetuity of the human race.

But not to pursue this subject, how plain it is to see, that if we place marriage and the Sabbath under the doctrine of mere civil contract, what shall prevent a whirlwind of popular frenzy from abolishing both? LENEX.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—DEAR SIRS: I use your BITTERS in my family, and consider them the best that can be procured. My wife has derived great benefit from using them, and also considers them an invaluable medicine.
Respectfully yours, G. P. MILLER.

OXFORD, Warren Co., N. Y., Aug. 20, 1866.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—SIRS: There is a great demand for your valuable STOMACH BITTERS in this neighborhood. We have been using them in the family for some time, and find them the best medicine of any for family use. Yours, J. N. CANDEE COLE.

EFFINGHAM, Effingham Co., Ill.

Dr. Hostetter—DEAR SIR: With pleasure I can testify that your BITTERS, from my knowledge of their use in my family, and from what is said by purchasers, are far superior to any other.
Yours, &c., ROBERT GIEBAL.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhœa, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street.

A CARD TO THE LADIES.

THE UNDERSIGNED, THE Publisher of the PITTSBURGH QUARTERLY MAGAZINE, believing that a merited approval ever awaits a worthy effort, entered into engagements, in January last, with several writers of merit, to assist in producing a cheap home periodical, of choice, chaste and interesting reading, with sprinklings, now and then, of harmless wit, that might in time avert the growing, and, to say the least, vitiated taste for trashy novels, and his enterprise having met a most flattering reception, in all grades of society, now goes a step farther, and offers to any one of his fair readers, who produces the best poem on "The Allegheny River," (to be published in the next issue of the Magazine,) a prize, consisting of a beautifully chased triple silver plated card stand, with Bohemian glass, now on exhibition at Roberts' Jewelry Store, No. 76 Fifth street.

The publisher, in adopting this course, confidently expects the co-operation of clergymen and those having charge of Female Schools and Seminaries, and believes, it successfully carried out, this may have the effect of awaking some young ladies' slumbering muse, and point the way to the summit of time.

The dark, unfathomed waves of ocean bear,
Full many a flower is doomed to blush unseen,
And waste it's sweetness on the desert air."

And how many sweet embryo blossoms are at this moment bidding fair to waste their sweetness by a life of listless inactivity, who might yet bloom on the page of history, and whose aroma may yet find fragrance to the archives of our public libraries?

Therefore, fair readers, make an effort, and equal justice will be done to your contributions, by a Committee appointed for that purpose. All communications should be addressed to

To the Water Committee:

GENTLEMEN—The following brief summary of the operations of the Water Works, for the year ending January 31st, 1867, is respectfully submitted.

The new machinery for the Lower Works, (authorized by Councils in the early part of the year,) after due advertisement, was awarded by the Committee to Charles Knap's Nephews; the items were five boilers, each 26 feet long, 42 inches diameter two flues in each 16 inches diameter; one steam cylinder, 12 feet stroke and 32 inches diameter; one pump 12 feet stroke and 24 inches diameter. The boilers have been in use for the last five months; the engine and pump for the past two months. All the work was completed to the entire satisfaction of all parties concerned.

The following extensions of pipe should be made during the coming year: In the First ward, an eight inch pipe on Water street and Duquesne Way, from Penn street round to Marbury street, with requisite attachments at Point and Duquesne streets. The four inch line in Pennsylvania avenue is totally inadequate to furnish the rapidly increasing consumption in that portion of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards; it should be replaced with an eight inch pipe from Magee to Gist streets, with a new descending eight inch line from the lower end of Fulton, along Colwell and Pride streets to Pennsylvania avenue.

In portions of the Ninth ward there is also much suffering and annoyance from the small pipes now laid; a twelve inch pipe should be laid in Liberty street, from Adams to Clymer streets. The eight inch pipe taken out of Liberty street should, with additional pipe, be laid on Butler street, from Carson to Taylor street. All these extensions are greatly needed to furnish requisite facilities to manufacturers, and protection against fire.

The running time of the Lower Works was 18 hours for each engine, or together 36 hours per day, an increase of 2½ hours per day over last year. Average daily consumption of coal, 384 bushels for one engine, or together 768 bushels. Average daily supply of water, 1,128,187 cubic feet.

The running time of the Upper Works was 14⅔ hours per day, an increase of two thirds of an hour over last year. Coal consumed, 181 bushels per day. Average daily supply of water, 221,018 cubic feet.

FASHIONS FOR YOUNG MEN.

It is fashionable for young men to wear good clothes at the expense of the tailor, and to appear in clean linen at the cost of the industrious washerwoman. No matter what cut the clothing may be, so you can cut the bill.

In good society it is fashionable to spend double the amount of wages per week you receive, on your sweet-heart, in an excursion to some pleasant point near the city, only two or three times in six days. More frequent visits might attract the attention of your employer and cause an advance of salary.

It is fashionable to quote poetry and talk of brilliant men. Of the former enough to pass you as well read can be taken from a book of quotations, and any biographical encyclopedia will furnish sufficient to put you through on the latter topic of conversation.

It is fashionable to applaud the musical abilities of the lady you call to see, no matter whether her voice be like the grating of a hand-saw or the creaking of non-lubricated machinery.

It is fashionable to go to church and lounge about the doors, looking bewitchingly at the young ladies and carrying a religious caste of countenance for the edification of their "ma-mas," and governors. It is fashionable to talk religion and politics at the tea table in mixed companies and insult the feelings of those who do not agree with you. This is rare fashionable sport, and will make you a reputation as a bore very rapidly.

If you attend a fashionable church, by all means go late, and with as much noise as possible make your way to a front pew. Watch the young ladies, but listen to the prayers and get in your "Amens" in advance of your neighbors. Cloud your eyes with your jeweled hand if the preacher has no brilliant reputation as a pulpit orator, and make others believe that his talk bores you; if the preacher has fame as an eloquent man look all attentive, and seem to drink in every word he utters.

It is fashionable to make an extra draw on your tailor, washerwoman and employer, on operatic occasions, in order that you may be mistaken, in your own imagination at least, for an oil prince or millionaire. You should not show your hand on such occasions but keep it gloved.

It is fashionable to turn up your nose at the virtuous shop girl who makes her own living, and bend down your whole soul in a studied bow to the lady of wealth. To smile on the former in private may be excused, but it is surely out of fashion to acknowledge her in the streets, or in public.

It is fashionable to ape a gentleman without being one, and the farther away from the mark you get the more fashionable you will be.

It is fashionable to loaf on prominent corners and pass loud remarks and jests about other people's wives, daughters and sisters, who happen to travel in your neighborhood. The louder you talk the better.

It is fashionable to take a lady to a lecture and just as the orator reaches his peroration, and, when the discourse becomes intensely interesting to the audience, get up and with as much noise and bustle as possible, quit the hall. The people will credit you with being able to appreciate what is coming.

All these things are eminently fashionable but not right, and the young man who rigidly lives up to them will one day be regarded as an ornament to society—in the penitentiary or alms house.

The Outrage at the St. Charles—The Offender Punished (?)

In yesterday's GAZETTE we made note of an outrage (such it was in the full sense of the word) upon a citizen, at the St. Charles Hotel, by a police officer, or sub-constable. To recapitulate, the officer was in pursuit of a dry goods agent from the east, who had been in the city pursuing his business without having procured the license required by law. He had ascertained his name and stopping place, and waited until far in the night in order to make sure of his "prey," expecting to find him retired and reposing from his day's labor. Having thus waited, he repaired to the St. Charles, inquired for Mr. ——, found that he had retired, and with a negro servant as a guide, proceeded directly to the room where the guest lodged. Mr. —— was aroused, told that he was wanted on important business, and upon opening the door was seized rudely. He resisted, of course, judging that he was dealing with a robber or assassin. His night clothing was torn to shreds, and his wife, occupying the apartment with him, terribly frightened. Without further explanation, will any one hesitate to say that this was a flagrant outrage on the part of the officer? Had he been possessed of full authority, having a proper warrant for the citizen he thus assailed, such conduct would not have been that of an officer deserving to act as such. The explanation, however, does not mend the matter. The outraged citizen bore the same name as the man for whom the officer was in search, and also stopped at the hotel, but more shrewd than his pursuer, he had taken his departure some hours previous, and was speeding eastward whilst the officer was in uneasy anticipation of the "descent" he was going to make upon him at the hotel. Had the officer pursued a proper course he would have known of the departure of his "game," and in the further pursuance of his duty, if in ignorance of that fact, would have avoided the "scene" at the hotel. If he had been less "mysterious," he would have ascertained, by inquiring at the hotel office, that his bird had flown. But we need not further discuss the merits of this particular instance of the worst kind of "police bungling," and that, too, by an officer who claims to be "experienced." We must admit that his claims on this score are valid, but it is also a fact that the "experience" he has had in this community has not demonstrated his peculiar fitness to exercise the authority of a policeman. As might be expected, the gentleman who suffered the indignity spoken of at the St. Charles Hotel, prosecuted his assailant, John Sarber, before the Mayor, but what followed will be a matter of surprise to every one who properly appreciates the conduct of the officer. A hearing was had in the case yesterday forenoon, and strange to relate, the accused was adjuged guilty of "disorderly conduct," and directed, as a punishment for his offending, to pay a fine of five dollars! There was no evidence, we believe, that the defendant had been dissipating, else the disposition to be lenient might have extended to the imposition of the usual fine of a "dollar and costs" for "drunkenness."

Large Cities by Gas Light.

A few weeks ago a young and promising clergyman of these parts visited Washington, and desiring to obtain a knowledge of the sinful world by gaslight, took a stroll after midnight, obtaining, with some wild companion, a fair view of the dark page of life. He returned home with enlarged ideas on the depth of human degradation, and was impatient to work up into his sermon what he saw in the little hell at Washington. His congregation did not relish the school at which he had obtained his knowledge, and with the usual lack of charity suspended him from duties as a minister of God. To show that his curiosity was natural and not so very far out of place we publish Theodore Tilton's experience in the same college for the study of the other side of life. He says;

"In company with several well known public men, and under the guidance of the police, we made a tour, last Saturday night, through the nethermost haunts of misery, vice and crime in the city of New York. This is an exploration which every man connected with public affairs, either by civil or by editorial duty, ought, if possible, to make; at least once in his life. Born in New York, and having always either resided or labored within it, we never saw or knew our city until last Saturday night. Never until then had we any adequate conception of its poverty, of its squalidness, of its villainy, of its debauchery, of its leprosy! The sight can never be forgotten! The story, even if we had the heart to tell it, must, for decency's sake, remain untold. We can only say that none of the familiar descriptions had adequately prepared us for the actual scenes. We were shocked, confounded, sickened! And as we now look back upon the awful revelations of that one night's descent into hell, we can hardly persuade ourselves that what we saw was a reality; it seems a hideous dream."

For Throwing Ashes on the Wharf—Deputy Mayor Owsten, yesterday, fined a Mrs. King four dollars and the costs.

The County Offices.

The near approach of the time appointed for the selection of Candidates for county offices, to be voted for by Republicans, causes aspirants to increase their efforts in mustering friends for the contest in the Convention, the decision there being equivalent to an election. As yet the contest has not become exciting or particularly animated, except, perhaps, for the office of Prothonotary, one of the most important in the county. The candidates are, Jacob H. Walter, Esq., the present incumbent, and D. C. Hultz, Esq., who until but recently filled a clerkship in the office. The qualifications of both are beyond question, and those of Mr. Walter are best indicated by the universal satisfaction which he has given in the office, upon which his friends base his claims for retention for another term.

We do not remember a time when the candidates for office appeared so few in number as now. This is owing in a measure to the fact that it has been decided to hold two nominating conventions, that for legislative candidates being fixed at a later period, in September.

TO BE THE
and applicable to

EXTRACT of a LETTER from a MEDICAL GENTLEMAN at MADRAS to his Brother at WORCESTER, May, 1851:

"Tell LEA & PERRINS that their SAUCE is highly esteemed in India, and is, in my opinion, the most palatable as well as the most wholesome SAUCE that is made."

The success of this most delicious and unrivalled condiment having caused many unprincipled dealers to apply the name to SPURIOUS COMPOUNDS, the PUBLIC is RESPECTFULLY and EARNESTLY requested to see that the names of LEA & PERRINS are upon the WRAPPER, LABEL, STOPPER and BOTTLE.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, May 20, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as reported by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 136¾; Eighty-one bonds, 111⅝; Five Twenties, 1862, 108⅞; Five Twenties, 1864, 105⅝; Five Twenties, 1865, 106⅝; 5-20s, Consols, 108; Seven Thirties, first issue, 106½; do, second and third issues, 105¾; Ten Forties, 99¾; Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad, 72¼; Fort Wayne & Chicago, 95⅝; Erie, 62¼; Chicago and North Western, 34¼; Chicago and North Western prefrd, 59¼; Chicago and Rock Island, 88¼; New York Central, 97⅜; Reading, 103½; Michigan Southern, 67⅛.

Though the government is selling its daily receipts of gold, it keeps well up. After the sailing of the specie steamers gold declined only ½ per cent., and opened stronger to-day on Saturday's quotation. Government securities are lower to-day. The decline is more marked in 7-30s and 1862 5-20s. The only purchaser for 7-30s has been the Government, and since there is no other demand for them, the Secretary of the Treasury has decided to buy them only at lower rates, and thus curtail the profits of the bankers at New York. Railroads are still further down reflecting the unfavorable bank statement. Transactions are small, and neither brokers nor speculators are bold enough to purchase for a rise. The bears have been unusually successful during the last six months, and are now able to hammer down stocks at pleasure. Provisional operators are alike poor with the capitalist who used to come into Wall street for a quick turn, and with dull business and large stocks of goods on hand, merchants have to keep away from Wall street, and confine themselves to sell off their goods before making any other investments.

—Since the recent failures of national banks, some discussion has taken place relative to the fact that some of the national banks of small capital have large deposits. By section 12 of the national banking law the stockholders are individually liable for debts of the bank to the extent of double the capital. It is, therefore, evident that the larger the capital of any bank the stronger is this guaranty, and the depositors are more sure of ultimate payment in proportion as the stockholders are numerous and the capital of the bank large.

—The Philadelphia Inquirer says: The stockholders of the Fort Wayne Railroad Company will hold a meeting on the 25th inst., to determine upon the proposed increase of the capital stock of the Company by a million and a half. There is a determination on the part of those controlling this badly managed road to add to its other undesirable features that of watered stock. This corporation already enjoys most unenviable reputation among the roads of the west, and it would be advisable for the stockholders to insist upon a radical reform in the management of their present property. Three days are frequently consumed in travelling from Pittsburgh to Chicago by means of this road. Accidents upon its line are of frequent occurrence, delays and detentions to its passengers occur much too often, and has become a fruitful source of complaint among western travellers. Therefore, when the stockholders come together, it is to be trusted that some among them will demand the immediate reform of the numerous crying evils which now beset their road, and are losing it rapidly in the estimation of the business and the travelling public. The course will be far more necessary and advisable than an additional sum to a capital now so badly employed. The Pennsylvania Road, its leading connection road, should, in justice to its patrons, appoint a committee of its directors to investigate the causes of these delays.

—At an auction sale the other day of oil stocks in Philadelphia, two thousand shares of a former leading fancy were sold for two dollars and a half, or one-eighth of a cent per share, and three thousand of another favorite stock at a quarter of a cent per share. These shares were once sold at a heavy premium, and represented an aggregate of fifty thousand dollars.

—The exports of the United States for the first quarter of the present fiscal year, the three months ending April 1, are about eleven and a quarter millions of dollars in excess of the imports. We give the exact figures: Imports, $94,754,462; exports $106,016,536. Over ninety millions of our exports were made up of cotton.

—A letter from Havana, dated 11th inst., represents business affairs in that city as in a rather unfavorable condition. All the weak dealers are going to the wall, embracing those who most directly supply consumers of city and country. So little good faith have some of the wharf buyers, that cash sales made to them, formerly collected for the week every Saturday, cannot now be relied upon.

—Individuals or corporations receiving money drafts from the Treasury Department, have quite naturally considered it necessary to send back an acknowledgement of the same. The Secretary of the Treasury is so burdened with correspondence, that he considers it a favor not to receive such acknowledgements. He is satisfied with the simple endorsement that comes home to him when the check is returned paid.

—This is the way the tax on promissory notes is avoided:—A. B. applies for a loan of $10,000, which he procures upon lodging United States bonds, &c., as collateral security. Instead of giving the bank his promissory note, he gives an instrument in substance as follows: Received of —— Bank, $10,000 advance on $10,000 United States bonds.

—A gentleman who was in New Orleans during the excitement attending the suspension of the First National Bank, describes the feeling as having been very intense. The City National Bank was heavily run upon immediately after the failure of the First, and during the 13th, 14th and 15th instant, paid out $610,000 of a deposit of $675,000. This was indeed a heavy pull, not a check having been refused. At 1 o'clock of the 15th, the tide began to turn, and before the close of the bank hours $110,000 of the amount drawn was redeposited. The attack the bank has stood will doubtless strengthen it and give it still better position than it has heretofore enjoyed.—Cin. Commercial.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, May 20, 1867.

The general markets were exceedingly dull to-day, but this is usually the case in the beginning of the week, and besides, the weather threatening rain all day, had a tendency to retard out-door operations. In prices there are no changes worthy of special notice, though the tendency is downward.

GRAIN—No movement in Wheat. Corn is dull and weak and drooping; sale of 1 car prime Yellow, on Saturday, at $1,98, and to-day, we heard of sales having been made at $1—to arrive. Oats steady, with a good mand; sale of 950 bush, in elevator, to go east, at 65c; and 125 bush, on wharf, at same figure. Rye is selling at $1,67 to $1,70. No movement in Barley.

FLOUR—Is quiet but steady, and a little dull but unchanged. We continue to quote at $15 to $15,50 for good to choice Spring Wheat; $16 to $17 for Winter Wheat, and $19 to $20 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is selling in store, at $9,50 to $10.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady, with regular jobbing salese at previous quotations. We continue to quote at 9½c to 9¾c for Shoulders; 11½c to 12½ for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 15½ to 15¾c for Plain Sugar Cured Hams; 16½ to 16¾c for Canvassed do. Lard 13 to 13¾c; Dried Beef, 22½@23; and Mess Pork, $23,00 to $23,50.

BUTTER—Is dull and drooping, prime to choice Roll selling at 18 to 20c. It has been a long time since fresh Butter sold at these figures, and if Flour was relatively as cheap people could get along.

EGGS—There was quite an active demand for Eggs to-day, and prices are a shade higher. We now quote fresh packed at 18 to 19c.

HAY—Prime baled Hay is in good demand, while common and inferior is hard to sell at any price. Sale of 54 bales prime baled, on wharf, at $25½ per ton.

POTATOES—Scarce and firm but unchanged. Prime Peach Blows are selling in store at $3,25 per bbl. Buckeyes may be quoted at $3,50.

DRIED FRUIT—Is quiet and dull but unchanged; small sales at 8 to 9c for Apples, and 12½c to 16c for Peaches.

GREEN APPLES—Scarce and in demand—prime, in good condition, may be quoted at $8 to $9 per bbl.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is still wanted at $3, while for Clover or Timothy, there is little or no inquiry.

OIL—Lard Oil is reported firm, with regular sales by manufacturers at 87 to 88c for No. 2, and $1,08 to 1,10 for No. 1.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, May 20, 1867.

CRUDE—The market was again very quiet and a little dull to-day, but prices remain unchanged—sale of 1300 bbls, on spot, at 7c, and 2000 bbls for June, on private terms. The demand both for present and future delivery continues light, refiners generally having all their tanks full, and the speculative feeling has almost entirely subsided, though there are some who contend that at present prices, oil is a good investment. The eastern advices continue unfavorable, and the European news is not very encouraging. We have no late advices from Oil City, but we presume, matters there remain about as they did last week. No general improvement in the market can be expected until prices let down there or advance here, as there is nothing in the business in its present shape, and people will not risk their capital and trouble their brains about a thing where there is no prospect of a reward for so doing.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also very quiet to-day, but two operations reported—500 bbls standard white for August delivery in Philadelphia, at 29c, and a "call" of 1000 bbls for balance of the year 1867, at 30c, and $1 per bbl. This last named sale shows a slight improvement, the last sales of that character reported being at 29. There is some little inquiry for late deliveries, but as our refiners do not seem disposed to sell at present figures, we have no sales reported. For the last three months 31c could probably be obtained, the last sales reported for those months having been at that figure. Free oil is quiet and unchanged.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, May 18.—The wool market has remained quiet during the past week, with a moderate consumptive demand, and the transactions exhibit no material change in rates except for pulled wools which are a shade off and very slow of sale. Manufacturers continue to buy in small lots as wanted, but their wants are not very extensive nor pressing in the present dormant condition of the goods market. If goods were selling freely, and production were up to the average seasonable standard, the present stock of domestic wool would not suffice for more than two week's consumption, and we should witness an active competition among buyers, as well as materially higher rates, before the new clip could be made available.

But even as the matter stands, with consumption and production restricted within very narrow limits, the supply of old wool is likely to be worked very close up, especially if the new crop is held back for high prices. Hence holders of desirable staple, knowing their stocks will all be wanted, and that wool is relatively cheap as compared with other commodities are not anxious to make sales. They are more indifferent from the fact that the current receipts from the country are very light, indicating an exhaustion of the supply in first hands, and the additional fact that the clip is likely to be two or three weeks later than usual.

The crop, however, is likely to be large; and, unless the market for fall goods shall show unmistakable signs of increased vigor and capacity in the meantime, it will be bought up very slowly, and open at low prices. Both manufacturers and growers are in doubt as to the result; but we think the prospect is hopeful for both of them since, with good agricultural crops, Western consumers of wool fabrics will have the ability, as well as the disposition, to take liberal supplies of these manufactured products for seasonable use. During the period of spring trade the case has been different; and if this has fallen short of the usual average, it is probably because of the limited means and resources of the actual consumer.

Sales of domestic wool for the week have been moderate, and foot up about 575,000 lbs, at a range of 50@74c for fleece, and 30@62½c for the various grades of pulled.—Bulletin.

New York Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 20.—Cattle market—receipts of 5,803 beeves; 13,278 sheep and lambs; 21,452 swine. There was a brilliancy in the beef market of last week, which was succeeded to-day by dullness and depression, and the prices realized indicated a decline of fully ½c. At this concession almost all offerings were disposed of, but with no little difficulty; extra, $19; prime, 17,50@17,75; first quality: $12,25@17,60; fair to good, $16,50@17; ordinary to inferior, $13@16. The average quality of cattle is not as good as usual. Sheep and lambs have less tone to the market, though the prices are not quotably lower, except for common, which is offered quite freely; prime and extra grades are comparatively scarce, and commanded full prices; for the former 8½@9c, and the latter 9¼c; lambs sold at $7,50. Hogs under large receipts, heavy and slightly declined; the demand, however, was fair; there were 18 car loads on sale this morning, and all were disposed of at $7,25@7,65 per cwt.

Flour Going Westward.

The Detroit Tribune, of Friday says:

At the Board of Trade this morning it was announced that 3000 barrels of flour were now in transit westward from Montreal, via the Grand Trunk Railway, to supply the demands of Western markets. We have been aware that small lots have been taken of late in that direction, but that there should be so large a shipment is certainly an anomaly in the history of western trade, and proves conclusively what has been so often stated, that our markets were short of supplies, and exceeded those of the seaboard in activity, with prices equal and superior to them. Dealers who have carried heavy stocks in Eastern cities all winter have repeatedly wished them here in hand, as good margins could at any time have been realized, while there they could not have been sold except at a great sacrifice.

New Orleans Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RIVER NEWS.

The River continues to recede slowly at this point with seven feet eight inches by the Allegheny, and six and a half by the Monongahela marks. Considerable rain fell on Sunday night, and it threatened rain all day yesterday.

The Minnie, from Louisville, and the Importer, from St. Louis, have arrived, and the Kate Putnam, from St. Louis, is due here to-day. The manifest of the Minnie will be found elsewhere.

Business was very dull at the landing yesterday, the offerings of freight for all points being light, but this is generally the case on Monday, which is usually the dullest day in the week for shipments. It was thought that when the rolling mills started up the shipments of iron and nails would be large, but thus far, we are sorry to say, such has not been the case.

The Julia No. 2, Capt. Wm. Coulson, with Mr. J. H. Ghriest, in the office, will positively leave for Cincinnati and Louisville to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The Lorena, Capt. Shuman, will positively leave for St. Louis to-day, and shippers will confer a favor by getting down their bills of lading as early in the day as possible. The Lorena is one of the best boats in the trade, and offers superior accommodations to passengers. The Glendale, Capt. Hare, is next in turn after the Lorena, and then, probably, comes the Maggie Hays, Capt. Hendrickson.

A large number of towboats arrived within the past day or two, and among others at the landing, we can report the Tom Rees, Tom Farrow, Lioness, Reindeer, Wild Cat, Star, Hercules, and Whale.

The Argosy was due here from Cincinnati last night, and will return to Cincinnati as usual on Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

The Cincinnati Gazette says: The subject of speed is attracting considerable attention among newspaper reporters and steamboatmen. The Louisville Courier with its proverbial correctness, asserted a few days ago that the fastest time between Vicksburg and Memphis was made by the Eclipse in 48 hours, to which the St. Louis Republican replies: "The Eclipse made the run from New Orleans to Cairo in three days, four hours and four minutes, and if, according to the above bright statement, it took her 48 hours to make the 400 miles mentioned, then she must have made the other 600 miles in something like 28 hours and 4 minutes, or equal to about 21¼ miles per hour. Low pressure has without doubt "struck in."

At St. Louis I. D. Fulkerson sold one-fourth of the steamer Tom Stevens to Fred Dozier for $1,750. Recently Hudson L. Downs sold his barges, Vulcan, C. J. Caffrey and Ben Garish, to Wm. B. Russel, steamboat agent, for $3,000.

It is said that Mr. Henry Rudy, of Maysville, Kentucky, is using in his planing mill one of the boilers saved from the wreck of the steamer Moselle. Some will probably remember the terrible loss of life that attended her explosion just above the Cincinnati Water Works site in 1838.

The Kate Robinson arrived at Cincinnati on Saturday, and left again for St. Louis. The Ida Rees was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Monday, and the Belle on Tuesday.

The Louisville Courier says: In our statistics we announced the towboat Sam. Roberts as having arrived from Pittsburgh with two tows of coal during the present month. She has made three and a half trips in less than thirty days, and has made eight round trips from Pittsburgh to this port and back again, and one trip to Cincinnati and back to Pittsburgh, all since the breaking up of the ice blockade. She made one trip from Pittsburgh here without stopping an engine or the pilots ringing a bell.

The Lansing, blown up on the Upper Mississippi, was a sternwheel boat, measuring eighty-five tuns burden, and valued at $10,000. She was built on the Wisconsin river, a few miles north of Prarie du Chien, three years and a half ago, her boilers being made in Milwaukee expressly for her. They were of the tubular pattern. Only two weeks ago the Lansing's engineer, John Bromley, of Rock Island, remarked to another engineer, that he didn't like his boilers—said he was afraid of them, and wished himself out of the "snap," i. e., his engagement on the boat.

The burning of the Denver, at St. Joseph, on the 16th, was occasioned by the upsetting of a pot of chimney paint which was being heated at the deck stove. Despite the efforts of the employes of the company and the fire department, the boat was entirely consumed.

The Richmond was to leave New Orleans for Louisville on the 27th, and the Great Republic for St. Louis on the 22d.
